SUMMARY ANALYSIS

In New Orleans, following Hurricane Katrina, a number of legally owned weapons were reportedly confiscated by law enforcement agencies. This practice was subsequently halted.

This bill amends s. 252.36, F.S., to provide that nothing in the Florida Emergency Management Act and the Florida Emergency Planning and Community Right to Know Act shall be construed as authorizing the "seizure, taking, or confiscation" of lawfully possessed weapons. Currently, under the Florida Emergency Management Act, the Governor has broad authority to act during a declared state of emergency. The Governor may "issue executive orders, proclamations, and rules" which "shall have the force and effect of law." Specifically, within that act, the Governor may, "in addition to any other powers conferred upon the Governor," suspend or limit the sale, dispensing, or transportation of alcoholic beverages, firearms, explosives, and combustibles during a state of emergency. That same section of current law does not, however, expressly authorize the Governor to order the confiscation of lawfully possessed weapons.

This bill also amends s. 870.044, F.S., to provide that nothing in Chapter 870, F.S., relating to "Affrays; Riots; Routs; Unlawful Assemblies," shall be construed as authorizing the "seizure, taking, or confiscation" of lawfully possessed firearms. Currently, under s. 870.041, F.S., local officers are empowered to declare a state of emergency, generally for a period of 72 hours. Within that Chapter, s. 870.044, F.S., prohibits the sale and intentional display of ammunition and guns or other firearms during a locally declared state of emergency. That section further permits only authorized law enforcement officials or persons in military service acting in the official performance of their duties to display or have firearms in their possession.

Finally, this bill reenacts s. 377.703(3)(a), F.S., which outlines the authority of the governor to impose energy restrictions when energy shortages are anticipated and to carry out the state's energy emergency contingency plan.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state and local governments.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2006.

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provides limited government: The bill prohibits a construction of certain existing sections of law as permitting government confiscation of firearms during a state of emergency.

Safeguards individual liberty: The bill prohibits a construction of certain existing sections of law as permitting government confiscation of firearms during a state of emergency, thereby enabling individuals to retain their firearms in these circumstances.

Maintain public security: The bill may adversely affect the ability of law enforcement agencies to protect public safety and security. By limiting the ability of law enforcement to be flexible in their responses to emergency conditions, the safety and security of the public may be degraded under certain conditions.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

The Constitution of the United States and the Florida Constitution both guarantee citizens the right to keep and bear arms. This right has been reaffirmed by the decisions of the courts to varying degrees over the course of history. However, some limitations on this right exist in regard to convicted felons and the sale and ownership of certain prohibited weapons. Currently, there are no express statutory provisions prohibiting public officials from confiscating legally owned firearms from law-abiding citizens. However, there are several statutory provisions related to the sale, display, or possession of firearms during a state of emergency.

In New Orleans, following Hurricane Katrina, a number of legally owned weapons were reportedly confiscated by law enforcement agencies. This practice was subsequently halted when concerns were voiced over these actions and a lawsuit was filed by the National Rifle Association.¹ The New York Times quoted the superintendent of police as stating that "only law enforcement (is) allowed to have weapons."² Legislation has since been introduced in eight states, including Louisiana, to address this issue.³

Effects of the Bill

The bill amends s. 252.36, F.S., to provide that nothing in the Florida Emergency Management Act⁴ and the Florida Emergency Planning and Community Right to Know Act⁵ shall be construed as authorizing the "seizure, taking, or confiscation" of lawfully possessed weapons.

[Currently, under the Florida Emergency Management Act, the Governor has broad authority to act during a declared state of emergency. A state of emergency generally is limited to 60 days, but may be extended or terminated before 60 days. The Governor may "issue executive orders, proclamations, and rules" which "shall have the force and effect of law."⁶ Specifically, within that act, the Governor may, "in addition to any other powers conferred upon the Governor," suspend or limit the sale, dispensing, or transportation of alcoholic beverages, firearms, explosives, and combustibles during a state of emergency.⁷ That same section of current law does not, however, expressly authorize the Governor to order the confiscation of lawfully possessed weapons.]

The bill also amends s. 870.044, F.S., to provide that nothing in Chapter 870, F.S., relating to "Affrays; Riots; Routs; Unlawful Assemblies," shall be construed as authorizing the "seizure, taking, or confiscation" of lawfully possessed firearms.

[Currently, under s. 870.041, F.S., local officers are empowered to declare a state of emergency, generally for a period of 72 hours. Elsewhere within that Chapter, s. 870.044, F.S., prohibits the sale and intentional display of ammunition and guns or other firearms during a locally declared state of emergency. That section further permits only authorized law enforcement officials or persons in military service acting in the official performance of their duties to display or have firearms in their possession.]

Finally, the bill reenacts s. 377.703(3)(a), F.S., which outlines the authority of the governor to impose energy restrictions when energy shortages are anticipated and to carry out the state's energy emergency contingency plan.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1. Amends s. 252.36, F.S., to provide that certain sections shall not be construed as authorizing lawfully possessed firearms to be seized, taken, or confiscated.

Section 2. Amends s. 870.044, F.S., to provide that certain sections shall not be construed as authorizing lawfully possessed firearms to be seized, taken, or confiscated.

Section 3. Re-enacts s. 377.703(3)(a), F.S., which outlines the authority of the governor to impose energy restrictions when energy shortages are anticipated and to carry out the state's energy emergency contingency plan.

Section 4. Provides an effective date of July 1, 2006.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

Not applicable because this joint resolution does not appear to require counties or cities to: spend funds or take action requiring the expenditure of funds; reduce the authority of counties or cities to raises revenues in the aggregate; or reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or cities.

2. Other:

The bill implicates constitutional considerations under both the United States and Florida Constitutions, including the interplay between the right to keep and bear arms and the emergency powers of the State and local governments. The constitutionality of confiscating legally owned firearms from private citizens for the protection of the common good is open to argument. The State Constitution prohibits any infringement on the right to keep and bear arms while providing for its regulation in the manner by which the State shall choose.

It has been argued in the courts that the right to keep and bear arms is a collective rather than an individual right. In United States v. Miller,⁸ the court implied that the rights contained in the Second Amendment of the United States Constitution are only limits on the powers of the federal government and not on the powers of the states. In four Florida cases, the courts held that the right to bear arms is not absolute and the state, through the legislative process, may enact valid police regulations to promote the safety of the general public.⁹

In two recent federal cases, courts have applied opposite precedent, that the right to keep and bear arms is an individual right rather than a collective right. In United States v. Verdugo-Urquidez, the court held that the term "the people" in the Second Amendment of the United States Constitution had the same meaning as in the Preamble, First, Fourth and Ninth Amendments.¹⁰ Although this case was a Fourth Amendment case, it has applicability to this issue. In Gilbert Equipment Co., Inc. v. Higgins, the court held that the right to keep and bear arms was guaranteed to all Americans.¹¹

The Governor has the express statutory authority to issue executive orders, proclamations, and rules and may amend or rescind them as necessary. These executive orders, proclamations, and rules have the force and effect of law during the declared emergency.¹² To the extent this authority, in the context of a state of emergency, emanates from the Governor's "supreme executive power" in Article IV, s. 1 of the Florida Constitution, attempts to statutorily limit the emergency power of the Governor to temporarily suspend rights as granted under the Constitution, one constitutional authority bumps up against another.

¹² Section 252.36(1)(a) and (5)(a), F.S.

The bill also highlights the question of the rights of the individual verses that of the State to exercise limitations on such rights in protecting the welfare and security of the public at large during a state of emergency. It should be anticipated, if the bill is enacted, that it could be subject to legal scrutiny well beyond the depth of this analysis.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

No additional grant of rulemaking authority is required to implement the provisions of this bill.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

Although the bill indicates that nothing in Chapter 870, F.S., which includes provisions limiting the sale, display, or possession of lawfully possessed firearms, shall be construed to authorize the confiscation of firearms that are lawfully possessed, it does not necessarily mean, as drafted, that it necessarily prohibits restrictions on possession. "Possession" and "confiscation" are different actions. If the intent of the sponsor is to also prohibit restrictions on possession, then the sponsor may consider revising the proposal.

Additionally, the bill states that nothing in this "Chapter" shall be construed in a certain manner, and includes this statement in a specific "section."

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

None.

HB 285

2006

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to emergency management; amending s. 252.36, F.S.; providing construction with respect to the authority of the Governor to seize, take, or confiscate firearms in the event of an emergency beyond local control; amending s. 870.044, F.S.; providing construction with respect to the seizure, taking, or confiscation of firearms during a state of emergency; reenacting s. 377.703(3)(a), F.S., relating to the authority of the Governor to utilize specified emergency management powers to carry out emergency actions required by a serious shortage of energy sources under the energy emergency contingency plan of the Department of Environmental Protection, for the purpose of incorporating the amendment to s. 252.36, F.S., in a reference thereto; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Paragraph (h) of subsection (5) of section 252.36, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

252.36 Emergency management powers of the Governor.--

(5) In addition to any other powers conferred upon the Governor by law, she or he may:

(h) Suspend or limit the sale, dispensing, or transportation of alcoholic beverages, firearms, explosives, and combustibles. However, nothing contained in ss. 252.31-252.90

HB 285

shall be construed to authorize the seizure, taking, or confiscation of firearms that are lawfully possessed.

Section 2. Section 870.044, Florida Statutes, is amended
to read:

870.044 Automatic emergency measures.--Whenever the public official declares that a state of emergency exists, pursuant to
s. 870.043, the following acts shall be prohibited during the period of said emergency throughout the jurisdiction:

(1) The sale of, or offer to sell, with or without consideration, any ammunition or gun or other firearm of any size or description.

(2) The intentional display, after the emergency is declared, by or in any store or shop of any ammunition or gun or other firearm of any size or description.

(3) The intentional possession in a public place of a firearm by any person, except a duly authorized law enforcement official or person in military service acting in the official performance of her or his duty.

Nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed to authorize the seizure, taking, or confiscation of firearms that are lawfully possessed.

Section 3. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 252.36, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section
377.703, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

377.703 Additional functions of the Department of Environmental Protection; energy emergency contingency plan; federal and state conservation programs.--

(3) DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION; DUTIES.--The Department of Environmental Protection shall, in addition to assuming the duties and responsibilities provided by ss. 20.255 and 377.701, perform the following functions consistent with the development of a state energy policy:

(a) The department shall assume the responsibility for development of an energy emergency contingency plan to respond to serious shortages of primary and secondary energy sources. Upon a finding by the Governor, implementation of any emergency program shall be upon order of the Governor that a particular kind or type of fuel is, or that the occurrence of an event which is reasonably expected within 30 days will make the fuel, in short supply. The department shall then respond by instituting the appropriate measures of the contingency plan to meet the given emergency or energy shortage. The Governor may utilize the provisions of s. 252.36(5) to carry out any emergency actions required by a serious shortage of energy sources.

Section 4. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The bill changes the distribution formula for undesignated contributions made by state employees participating in the Florida State Employees' Charitable Campaign. It requires that the distribution of undesignated funds in each local fiscal agent area be shared proportionately by the participating charitable organizations based upon their percentage of designations in each fiscal agent area.

There is no fiscal impact to the state.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

The bill does not appear to implicate any of the House Principles.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

The Florida State Employees' Charitable Campaign (FSECC) is the only statutorily-recognized comprehensive giving program¹ that provides state employees with a payroll deduction system for their voluntary donations to qualified charitable non-profit organizations. There are five criteria that determine inclusion and exclusion in the campaign, as follows:²

Participation Criteria for the Florida State Employees' Charitable Campaign

Eligible	Ineligible
Public health and welfare	Fund raising/administrative expenses greater than 25%
Education	Primarily political, religious, professional, or fraternal societies
Environmental restoration and conservation	Organizations with prohibited discriminatory practices
Civil and human rights	Unregistered charitable organizations
Relief of human suffering and poverty	Organizations without 26 U.S.C. 501(c)(3) tax qualified status

The Department of Management Services (DMS) and the Department of Financial Services (DFS) provide administrative support for the campaign. The DMS competitively selects a fiscal agent for the processing of contributions to the designated charities and the DFS, as paymaster, provides the deduction codes through the state payroll system. The approved fiscal agent is permitted reasonable costs for the conduct of the campaign and must reimburse the DMS for the costs of coordinating the campaign, not to exceed one percent (1%) of gross pledges. All financial records associated with the fiscal intermediary duties and operations are open for inspection to the public upon reasonable notice. In each fiscal agent area, local steering committees, composed of state employees selected by the fiscal agent, assist in conducting the campaign and direct the distribution of undesignated funds. A total of $4.6 million was collected by the 2004 campaign and distributed to some 1300 participating organizations statewide.³

The current fiscal agent is the United Way of Florida, Incorporated.

Changes

The bill removes from the local steering committee the duty of directing the distribution of undesignated funds. Directing the distribution of undesignated funds currently is the only statutorily-defined duty of the local steering committee. The bill also removes from the fiscal agent the responsibility of selecting state employees for the local steering committees.

The bill requires that the distribution of undesignated funds in each local fiscal agent area be shared proportionately by the participating charitable organizations, based upon their percentage of designations in each fiscal agent area. The payment of shares of undesignated funds to each charity must be made in the same manner as the designations. This method of distribution is similar to the practices relating to distribution of undesignated funds with Title 5, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 950.501, for the Combined Federal Campaign for employees of federal agencies. Those federal regulations direct the proportional distribution of undesignated funds to charities in the same proportion that they received designations in the campaign.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 110.181 to change the distribution of undesignated funds in each fiscal area of the FSECC.

Section 2 provides an effective date of July 1, 2006.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state expenditure.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state expenditure.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

There is no effect on the amount of gross pledges but there will be a redistribution of pledge amounts to charitable organizations that do not receive a proportionate share of funds relative to their share today. The deduction codes are processed on a calendar year basis. As a result, the impact of the bill should not be felt until the next deduction cycle begins in the year 2007.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

None.

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Open Government Sunset Review Act requires the Legislature to review each public records and each public meetings exemption five years after enactment. If the Legislature does not reenact the exemption, it automatically repeals on October 2nd of the fifth year after enactment.

The bill reenacts the public records exemption relating to supplemental rebate agreements. It narrows the exemption by removing the public records exemption for trade secrets. It reenacts the public meetings exemption for the Medicaid Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee. In addition, it requires that a record be made of each portion of an exempt meeting. The exemptions will repeal on October 2, 2006, if this bill does not become law.

This bill may have a fiscal impact on state government. It does not appear to have a fiscal impact on local governments.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide limited government – The bill narrows the public records exemption thereby increasing public access to government information. The bill requires the Medicaid Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee to make a record of each portion of an exempt meeting.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

The 2001 Florida Legislature significantly expanded its efforts to control pharmaceutical costs in the state's Medicaid program by enacting a program called the preferred drug list (PDL).¹ Under this law, Medicaid prescribing practitioners are required to prescribe the medications on the PDL, or must obtain prior authorization from the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) to prescribe a medication not on the PDL, in order for Medicaid to pay for the prescription.

In order for a drug manufacturer to have its medications considered for inclusion on the PDL, it must agree to provide the state both federally mandated rebates and state-mandated supplemental rebates. Since rebate negotiations involve disclosure by pharmaceutical manufacturers of proprietary information regarding the elements of their wholesale pricing, federal law prohibits disclosure of information received by Medicaid agencies from manufacturers that discloses identities of manufacturers or wholesalers or the prices charged by these manufacturers or wholesalers.² The federal prohibition applies to the U.S. Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services, the U.S. Secretary of Veterans Affairs, or a state agency or contractor.

To address the federal confidentiality requirements and to ensure the use of this pricing information for negotiating state supplemental rebate agreements, the 2001 Legislature enacted a public records and public meetings exemption related to rebate negotiations.³ Trade secrets, rebate amount, percent of rebate, manufacturer's pricing, and supplemental rebates with respect to supplemental rebate negotiations are confidential and exempt⁴ from public records requirements.

According to Senate interim project report 2006-219, the state supplemental rebate negotiation process has been facilitated by this exemption and has been successful in benefiting the people of Florida. Since its implementation in 2002, the PDL program has generated over $262 million in state supplemental rebates, with $292 million in additional costs savings projected for Fiscal Year 2005-2006, a significant portion of which will be derived from supplemental rebate negotiations.

Current law also provides a public meetings exemption applicable in limited circumstances. Portions of meetings of the Medicaid Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee are exempt from public meetings requirements if the aforementioned confidential and exempt records are discussed.⁵

² 42 U.S.C. 1396r 8

³ Chapter 2001 216, L.O.F.; codified in s. 409.91196, F.S.

⁴ There is a difference between records that are exempt from public records requirements and those that are confidential and exempt. If the Legislature makes a record confidential and exempt, such record cannot be released by an agency to anyone other than to the persons or entities designated in the statute. See Attorney General Opinion 85-62. If a record is simply made exempt from disclosure requirements, an agency is not prohibited from disclosing the record in all circumstances. See Williams v. City of Minneola, 575 So.2d 683, 687 (Fla. 5th DCA), review denied, 589 So.2d 289 (Fla. 1991).

⁵ Section 409.91196(2), F.S.

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act,⁶ the exemption will repeal on October 2, 2006, unless reenacted by the Legislature.⁷ House staff reviewed the public records and public meetings exemption pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act and determined that, with modification, the exemption meets the requirements for reenactment.⁸ Based on AHCA's survey response, it appeared that the public records exemption for trade secrets was unnecessary because AHCA stated that rebate agreements and supplemental rebate amounts were trade secrets for purposes of the exemption. Such information is protected under the current public records exemption.

Effect of Bill

The bill removes the repeal date, thereby reenacting the public records and public meetings exemptions. It narrows the public records exemption by removing the exemption for trade secrets.

The bill requires the Medicaid Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee, which is created within AHCA,⁹ to make a record of each portion of an exempt meeting. The record must include the time of commencement and termination, all discussions and proceedings, the names of all persons present at any time, and the names of all persons speaking. The record of the exempt portion of a meeting is a public record; however, the rebate amount, percent of rebate, manufacturer's pricing, and supplemental rebate included in the record is confidential and exempt from public disclosure because of the public records exemption already afforded AHCA.¹⁰

Finally, the bill makes editorial changes and removes superfluous language.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 409.91196, F.S., to remove the repeal date.

Section 2 provides an effective date of October 1, 2006.

¹⁰ See s. 409.91196(1), F.S.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

None.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

The bill requires the Medicaid Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee, which is a part of AHCA, to maintain a record of exempt portions of meetings. This could create a negative fiscal impact; however, the committee already hires a court reporter to keep a record of the open portion of the meeting. As such, additional expenditures should be avoided.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

This bill does not require counties or municipalities to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds. This bill does not reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or municipalities. This bill does not reduce the authority that municipalities have to raise revenue.

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The Open Government Sunset Review Act sets forth a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended public records or public meetings exemptions. It requires an automatic repeal of the exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.

The Act provides that a public records or public meetings exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose, and may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allowing the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption;
- Protecting sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety. However, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision; or,
- Protecting trade or business secrets.

If, and only if, in reenacting an exemption that will repeal, the exemption is expanded (essentially creating a new exemption), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required because of the requirements of Art. 1, s. 24(c), Florida Constitution. If the exemption is reenacted with grammatical or stylistic changes that do not expand the exemption, if the exemption is narrowed, or if an exception to the exemption is created (e.g., allowing another agency access to the confidential or exempt records), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

This bill revises the statutory succession to the office of Governor. In the event of a vacancy in the office of Governor and the office of Lieutenant Governor, the bill provides for the following officers/persons to become Governor: Attorney General, then Chief Financial Officer, then Commissioner of Agriculture, and ultimately a person elected by a majority vote in a joint session of the Legislature if there are vacancies in all of the other offices.

This bill does not appear to create, modify, or eliminate rulemaking authority.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state government revenues or expenditures. This bill does not appear to have an impact on local government revenues or expenditures.

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide limited government – This bill revises the line of succession for the office of Governor in the event of a vacancy in the office of Governor and the office of Lieutenant Governor.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Succession to the Office of Governor

Article IV, section 3(a) of the Florida Constitution provides that the Lieutenant Governor becomes Governor upon a vacancy in the office of Governor. This section requires further succession to the office of Governor be prescribed by law, provided any successor must serve for the remainder of the term.

Section 14.055, Florida Statutes, was created in 1970 to fulfill the constitutional requirement of further succession provided by law. This section mirrors the Florida Constitution in providing for the Lieutenant Governor to become Governor upon a vacancy in the Office of the Governor.

This section, as amended by the Legislature in 2003, then provides for a vacancy in the office of Lieutenant Governor and allows the Governor to appoint a successor to serve for the remainder of the term. This successor is prohibited, however, from becoming Governor if there is a vacancy in the office of Governor with more than 28 months remaining in the term; instead, this section requires a Governor and Lieutenant Governor to be determined at the next statewide general election.

If there is a vacancy in the office of the Governor and the office of Lieutenant Governor, this section currently sets forth the following succession:

- Secretary of State
- Attorney General
- Comptroller
- Treasurer
- Commissioner of Education
- Commissioner of Agriculture
- Person elected by a majority vote in a joint session of the Legislature within 15 days.

Each of the designated positions was previously a statewide elected office and a member of the Florida Cabinet. In November 1998, however, voters approved Revision Number 8, which was proposed by the 1997-1998 Constitutional Revision Commission. Effective January 7, 2003,¹ this revision merged the Cabinet offices of Treasurer and Comptroller into one Chief Financial Officer and removed the Secretary of State and Commissioner of Education as elected Cabinet offices. Thus, the Cabinet now consists of the Chief Financial Officer, the Attorney General, and the Agriculture Commissioner.²

This bill amends the line of succession in the event of a vacancy in the office of Governor and the office of Lieutenant Governor:

- Attorney General
- Chief Financial Officer
- Commissioner of Agriculture

² Fla. Const., art. IV, § 4.

- Person elected by a majority vote in a joint session of the Legislature within 15 days.

These changes appear consistent with the original statutory succession enacted by the Legislature; that is, it follows the original ordering to provide for statewide, elected officers and members of the Cabinet to become Governor and removes positions which are now appointed.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Amends section 14.055, Florida Statutes, to change the succession to the office of Governor.

Section 2: Provides that the bill takes effect upon becoming law.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state government revenues.

2. Expenditures:

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state government expenditures.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on local government revenues.

2. Expenditures:

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on local government expenditures.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

This bill does not appear to have a direct economic impact on the private sector.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

None.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

This bill does not appear to require counties or municipalities to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds. This bill does not appear to reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or municipalities. This bill does not appear to reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenue.

2. Other:

Succession to Office of Governor

Article IV, section 3(a) of the Florida Constitution requires succession to the office of Governor to be prescribed by law with the successor serving the remainder of the term. The changes in this bill do not appear to violate this provision. The provision of existing law which prohibits a Lieutenant Governor, who was appointed by a Governor to fill a vacancy in the office of Lieutenant Governor, from becoming Governor if there is more than 28 months remaining in the term may violate the provisions of this section.³

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

This bill does not appear to create, modify, or eliminate rulemaking authority.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

None.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

None.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

During the 2005 Regular Session, the Legislature reenacted and saved from repeal the public records exemption that accompanies the interference with custody statute. Because the statute contained substantive language inconsistencies, the repeal date was extended from October 2, 2005, to October 2, 2006, in order to trigger an additional review of the substantive language.

The bill revises the interference with custody statute. It broadens an existing exception to the statute making the exception available to any person having a legal right to custody of a minor, rather than simply to a spouse. The exception is applicable not only to the taking of a child but also to the taking of an incompetent person.

The bill also revises an existing defense under the statute. In order to utilize a defense based on being a victim of domestic violence, a defendant must establish that he or she reasonably believed the action of taking the minor or incompetent person was necessary in order to escape from the violence or preserve the minor or incompetent person from exposure to the violence. It revises a second defense, to require that, in order to utilize the defense that the child or incompetent person instigated his or her own taking, a defendant must establish that it was reasonable to rely on the instigating actions of the minor or incompetent person.

The bill clarifies existing language to specify that the exception to prosecution applies to the specific offenses of interference with custody.

The interference with custody statute will repeal on October 2, 2006, if this bill does not become law.

The bill does not appear to create, modify, or eliminate rulemaking authority.

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Safeguard individual liberty – The bill broadens the exception to the interference with custody statute making it available to any person having a legal right to custody of a minor, rather than simply to spouses. The exception is applicable not only to the taking of a child but also to the taking of an incompetent person.

Empower Families – The bill broadens the exception to the interference with custody statute making it available to any person having a legal right to custody of a minor, rather than simply to spouses. The exception also applies to the taking of an incompetent person.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Interference with Custody

In 1974, the Legislature created the offense of interference with custody. At present, there are two variations to the offense:

- It is a third-degree felony for any person, without legal authority, to knowingly or recklessly take a child 17 years of age or under or any incompetent person from the custody of his or her parent, guardian, a public agency in charge of the child or incompetent person, or any other lawful custodian.¹
- It is a third-degree felony, in the absence of a court order determining custody or visitation rights, for a parent, stepparent, guardian, or relative who has custody of a child or incompetent person to take or conceal the child or incompetent person with a malicious intent to deprive another person of his or her right to custody.²

There are three statutory defenses to the offense of interference with custody:

- The defendant reasonably believes that his or her action was necessary to protect the child or incompetent person from danger to his or her welfare.
- The defendant was the victim of an act of domestic violence or had reasonable cause to believe that his or her action was necessary to protect himself or herself from an act of domestic violence.
- The child or incompetent person was taken at his or her own instigation without enticement and without purpose to commit a criminal offense with or against the child or incompetent person.³

The statute does not apply if a spouse flees with a child or incompetent person because he or she:

- Is the victim of domestic violence or reasonably believes that he or she is about to become a victim of such violence; or
- Believes the welfare of the child or incompetent person is in danger.⁴

² Section 787.03(2), F.S.

³ Section 787.03(4)(a)-(c), F.S.

⁴ Section 787.03(6)(a), F.S.

This exception to the statute does not apply to a person fleeing with an incompetent person for the aforementioned reasons.

In order to avail himself or herself of the exception for spouses, a person who takes a child must file a report with the sheriff's office or the state attorney's office of the county where the child resided at the time he or she was taken. Within 10 days of taking the child, the report must be filed and must contain the name of the person taking the child, the current address and telephone number of the person and child, and the reasons the child was taken.⁵ Within a reasonable time, the person also must commence a custody proceeding consistent with the federal Parental Kidnapping Prevention Act or the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act.⁶

Public Records Exemption

The name of the person taking the child and the current address and telephone number of that person and the child, which are contained in the report made to the sheriff or state attorney, are confidential and exempt from public records requirements.⁷ The public records exemption was scheduled for repeal on October 2, 2005, because of the Open Government Sunset Review Act. During the 2005 Regular Session, the Legislature reenacted the public records exemption and saved it from repeal. Because the interference with custody statute contained substantive language inconsistencies, the repeal date was extended from October 2, 2005, to October 2, 2006, in order to trigger an additional review of the substantive language.⁸

Effect of Bill

The bill revises the interference with custody statute to broaden an existing exception for a spouse who takes a minor during the course of fleeing domestic violence or protecting the welfare of the minor and reports their whereabouts to the sheriff or state attorney. The bill broadens the exception by making it available to any person having a legal right to custody of a minor, rather than simply to a spouse. The exception is applicable not only to the taking of a minor but also to the taking of an incompetent person.

The bill revises an existing defense under the statute. In order to utilize a defense based on being a victim of domestic violence, a defendant must establish that he or she reasonably believed the action of taking the minor or incompetent person was necessary in order to escape from the violence or preserve the minor or incompetent person from exposure to the violence. It revises a second defense, to require that, in order to utilize the defense that the minor or incompetent person instigated his or her own taking, a defendant must establish that it was reasonable to rely on the instigating actions of the minor or incompetent person.

The bill makes the offense of interference with custody applicable to the taking of a minor, replacing the term "child 17 years of age or under" with the term "minor," in order to avoid ambiguity over whether the law covers the taking of a child in the months between his or her 17th and 18th birthdays.

The bill clarifies existing language in s. 787.03(6)(a), F.S., to specify that the exception to prosecution provided in the statute applies to the specific offenses of interference with custody. As currently worded, the statute provides that "this section does not apply" in certain circumstances, which creates ambiguity about the effect of this provision on the application of related provisions in s. 787.03, F.S., such as the public records exemption.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

HB 7113 addresses the public records exemption that accompanies the interference with custody statute.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

On March 28, 2006, the Civil Justice Committee adopted one amendment to the bill, removing an unnecessary requirement that a person taking an incompetent person must timely file a custody proceeding. The reference was unnecessary in that custody proceedings are not conducted regarding incompetent persons, only minor children. The bill was then reported favorably with a committee substitute.

A parent who is determined by the court to be exempt from the requirements of this section must meet the requirements of s. 787.03(6) if an offense of interference with custody is committed.

Section 3. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 787.03, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, paragraph (a) of subsection (7) of section 933.18, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

933.18 When warrant may be issued for search of private dwelling.--No search warrant shall issue under this chapter or under any other law of this state to search any private dwelling occupied as such unless:

(7) One or more of the following misdemeanor child abuse offenses is being committed there:

(a) Interference with custody, in violation of s. 787.03.

If, during a search pursuant to a warrant issued under this section, a child is discovered and appears to be in imminent danger, the law enforcement officer conducting such search may remove the child from the private dwelling and take the child into protective custody pursuant to chapter 39. The term "private dwelling" shall be construed to include the room or rooms used and occupied, not transiently but solely as a residence, in an apartment house, hotel, boardinghouse, or lodginghouse. No warrant shall be issued for the search of any private dwelling under any of the conditions hereinabove mentioned except on sworn proof by affidavit of some creditable witness that he or she has reason to believe that one of said conditions exists, which affidavit shall set forth the facts on which such reason for belief is based.

Section 4. Paragraph (d) of subsection (3) of section 921.0022, Florida Statutes, is reenacted and amended to read:

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Open Government Sunset Review Act requires the Legislature to review each public records and each public meetings exemption five years after enactment. If the Legislature does not reenact the exemption, it automatically repeals on October 2nd of the fifth year after enactment.

Current law provides a third-degree felony for the offense of "interference with custody"; however, a spouse who flees with a child because he or she is the victim of domestic violence or believes the welfare of the child is in danger does not commit a felony of the third degree. The fleeing spouse must file a report with the sheriff's office or the state attorney's office of the county where the child resided at the time he or she was taken. The report must contain the name of the person taking the child, the current address and telephone number of the person and child, and the reasons the child was taken.

In order to conform to changes proposed in HB 7111, this bill reenacts and expands the public records exemption for the current address and telephone number of the person fleeing with a child and of the child. The bill expands the exemption to include the current address and telephone number of the person fleeing with an incompetent person and of the incompetent person.

The bill provides for future review and repeal of the exemption. It also provides a statement of public necessity as required by the State Constitution, and provides a contingent effective date.

The bill may have a minimal non-recurring fiscal impact on state and local governments.

The bill requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting for passage.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide limited government – The bill expands the public records exemption that accompanies the interference with custody statute thereby decreasing public access to government information.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Interference with Custody

In 1974, the Legislature created the offense of interference with custody. At present, there are two variations to the offense:

- It is a third-degree felony for any person, without legal authority, to knowingly or recklessly take a child 17 years of age or under or any incompetent person from the custody of his or her parent, guardian, a public agency in charge of the child or incompetent person, or any other lawful custodian.¹
- It is a third-degree felony, in the absence of a court order determining custody or visitation rights, for a parent, stepparent, guardian, or relative who has custody of a child or incompetent person to take or conceal the child or incompetent person with a malicious intent to deprive another person of his or her right to custody.²

The statute does not apply if a spouse flees with a child or incompetent person because he or she:

- Is the victim of domestic violence or reasonably believes that he or she is about to become a victim of such violence; or
- Believes the welfare of the child or incompetent person is in danger.³

This exception to the statute does not apply to a person fleeing with an incompetent person for the aforementioned reasons.

In order to avail himself or herself of the exception for spouses, a person who takes a child must file a report with the sheriff's office or the state attorney's office of the county where the child resided at the time he or she was taken. Within 10 days of taking the child, the report must be filed and must contain the name of the person taking the child, the current address and telephone number of the person and child, and the reasons the child was taken.⁴ Within a reasonable time, the person also must commence a custody proceeding consistent with the federal Parental Kidnapping Prevention Act or the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act.⁵

² Section 787.03(2), F.S.

³ Section 787.03(6)(a), F.S.

⁴ The sheriff or state attorney must be informed of any change of address or telephone number. Section 787.03(6)(b)3., F.S.

⁵ Section 787.03(6)(b), F.S.

Public Records Exemption

The current address and telephone number of the person taking the child and of the child, which are contained in the report made to the sheriff or state attorney, are confidential and exempt⁶ from public records requirements.⁷ The public records exemption was scheduled for repeal on October 2, 2005, because of the Open Government Sunset Review Act.⁸ During the 2005 Regular Session, the Legislature reenacted the public records exemption and saved it from repeal. Because the interference with custody statute contained substantive language inconsistencies, the repeal date was extended from October 2, 2005, to October 2, 2006, in order to trigger an additional review of the substantive language.⁹ As a result, the exemption will repeal on October 2, 2006, unless reenacted by the Legislature.

HB 7113

This bill revises the interference with custody statute to broaden an existing exception for a spouse who takes a minor during the course of fleeing domestic violence or protecting the welfare of the minor, and reports their whereabouts to the sheriff or state attorney. It provides that the exception is applicable not only to the taking of a minor but also to the taking of an incompetent person. As such, it is recommended that the public records exemption be amended to reflect this change.

Effect of Bill

The bill reenacts and expands the public records exemption to conform to the recommended changes to the interference with custody statute made in HB 7111. The bill expands the exemption to include the current address and telephone number of the person fleeing with an incompetent person and of the incompetent person. The sheriff or state attorney may allow an agency, as defined in the Public Records Act, to inspect and copy such records in the furtherance of that agency's duties and responsibilities.

The bill extends the repeal date from October 2, 2006, to October 2, 2011. It also provides a statement of public necessity as required by the State Constitution, and provides a contingent effective date.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 787.03, F.S., to reenact and expand the public records exemption regarding the interference with custody.

Section 2 provides a public necessity statement.

Section 3 provides an October 1, 2006, effective date contingent upon the passage of additional legislation.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

⁶ There is a difference between records that are exempt from public records requirements and those that are confidential and exempt. If the Legislature makes a record confidential and exempt, such record cannot be released by an agency to anyone other than to the persons or entities designated in the statute. See Attorney General Opinion 85-62. If a record is simply made exempt from disclosure requirements, an agency is not prohibited from disclosing the record in all circumstances. See Williams v. City of Minneola, 575 So.2d 683, 687 (Fla. 5th DCA), review denied, 589 So.2d 289 (Fla. 1991).

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

See FISCAL COMMENTS.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

None.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

The bill may create a minimal non-recurring increase in state and local government expenditures. A bill enacting or amending the public records law causes a non-recurring negative fiscal impact in the year of enactment due to training employees who are responsible for replying to public records requests. In the case of bills reviewed under the Open Government Sunset Review process, training costs are incurred if the bill does not pass or if the exemption is amended, as employees must be retrained. Because the bill expands the public records exemption, employee-training activities are required thus causing a minimal nonrecurring increase in expenditures.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

The bill does not require counties or municipalities to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds. The bill does not reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or municipalities. The bill does not reduce the authority that municipalities have to raise revenue.

2. Other:

Vote Requirement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution, requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting for passage of a newly created public records or public meetings exemption. The bill expands the current exemption, essentially creating a new public records exemption. Thus, the bill requires a two-thirds vote for passage.

Public Necessity Statement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution, requires a statement of public necessity (public necessity statement) for a newly created public records or public meetings exemption. The bill expands the current exemption, essentially creating a new public records exemption. Thus, the bill includes a public necessity statement.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

The bill does not appear to create, modify, or eliminate rulemaking authority.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The Open Government Sunset Review Act sets forth a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended public records or public meetings exemptions. It requires an automatic repeal of the exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.

The Act provides that a public records or public meetings exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose, and may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allowing the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption;
- Protecting sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety. However, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision; or,
- Protecting trade or business secrets.

If, and only if, in reenacting an exemption that will repeal, the exemption is expanded (essentially creating a new exemption), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required because of the requirements of Art. 1, s. 24(c), Florida Constitution. If the exemption is reenacted with grammatical or stylistic changes that do not expand the exemption, if the exemption is narrowed, or if an exception to the exemption is created (e.g., allowing another agency access to the confidential or exempt records), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

40 Section 2. The Legislature finds that it is a public
41 necessity to expand the public records exemption for certain
42 information contained in a report to a sheriff or state attorney
43 made by a person who takes a minor in order to escape domestic 44 violence, avoid domestic violence, or preserve the welfare of 45 the minor. If an alleged perpetrator of domestic violence were 46 able to obtain the address and telephone information contained
47 in a report to the sheriff or state attorney under s. 787.03,
48 Florida Statutes, he or she could locate or contact the minor
49 and the person who removes the minor from a situation of actual 50 or imminent domestic violence or jeopardized welfare, thus 51 exposing them to potential additional harm. Keeping the address
52 and telephone number of that person and the minor confidential
53 and exempt protects their safety. For the same reasons, the 54 Legislature finds that it is a public necessity to expand this 55 public records exemption to include the taking of an incompetent
56 person within the coverage of the exemption. The underlying

HB 7113

2006

57 offense of interference with custody applies to the taking of an 58 incompetent person as well as to the taking of a person younger
59 than 18 years of age. In addition, the safety of an incompetent
60 person and the person seeking shelter with an incompetent person
61 is as vital as the safety of a minor and a person seeking 62 shelter with a minor. The underlying offense of interference
63 with custody envisions that an incompetent person is as 64 vulnerable as a minor. Therefore, the Legislature finds that the 65 public records exemption should apply to the address and 66 telephone number of the incompetent person and the person who 67 removes the incompetent person from a situation of actual or 68 imminent domestic violence or jeopardized welfare contained in a 69 report submitted to a sheriff or state attorney as prescribed in 70 s. 787.03, Florida Statutes. If persons seeking shelter with 71 minors or incompetent persons to escape domestic violence knew
72 that their addresses or telephone numbers could be obtained
73 through the reports to the sheriff or state attorney, they would 74 fear for their safety and would most likely refrain from making 75 the required reports, thereby thwarting the public policy of 76 encouraging the resolution of allegations of interference with 77 custody while also protecting individuals from harm. The public
78 records exemption, therefore, principally protects the safety of 79 individuals but also promotes the effective and efficient
80 administration of the interference with custody statute.

81 Section 3. This act shall take effect October 1, 2006, if 82 House Bill 7111 or similar legislation amending section 787.03,
83 Florida Statutes, is adopted in the same legislative session or 84 an extension thereof and becomes law.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

House Bill 7127 amends Florida's current prohibition against disturbing lawful assemblies by providing a higher level of penalty for disturbing the particularly sensitive assembly of individuals gathered to give military honors to a fallen veteran.

This bill also reenacts s. 871.02, F.S., which provides the mechanisms for prosecuting violators of s. 871.01, F.S.

This bill takes effect upon becoming law.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Empower Families – This bill serves to benefit families of certain deceased veterans by providing protection for a disturbance-free, dignified funeral service.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation:

Section 871.01: Disturbances Statute Upheld

Section 871.01, F.S., reads, "Whoever willfully interrupts or disturbs any school or any assembly of people met for the worship of God or for any lawful purpose shall be guilty of a misdemeanor of the second degree..." The Supreme Court of Florida upheld the law's constitutionality in S.H.B. v. State of Florida¹.

In this case, the appellant, a juvenile, caused a disturbance at his junior high school when he ran through the hallways and yelled obscenities at a teacher who confronted him. Other students crowded the doors in their classrooms to see the activity in the hallways. The Court noted that the appellant's acts caused a disturbance and that "a disruption of the school's functions did, in fact, occur."

The appellant, however, challenged the law's constitutionality on two points: 1) that the statute was overbroad; and 2) that the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution protected the appellant's activity.

In its decision, before it spoke to the two points concerning constitutionality, the Court addressed another one of the appellant's arguments that s. 871.01, F.S., and 877.03, F.S.², the "breach of peace" statute, are analogous and that he should therefore be judged under the standards of s. 877.03, F.S.

The Court disagreed and said that s. 871.01, F.S., is supplementary to and not a rephrasing of s. 877.03, F.S. The Court noted that, "Section 871.01 is a more explicit statute dealing with a particular kind of disturbance, i.e., the disturbance of a lawful assembly. ... It recognizes and provides penalties for the deliberate disruption of a peaceful and lawful assembly."

The Court continued and described the special character of these assemblies and said, "These functions are fragile by their nature. They generally require a degree of restraint and cooperation to produce the harmony necessary for their effectiveness. Thus, they are highly vulnerable to disturbance. A single person may cause havoc in a situation in which hundreds of others have sought a common purpose." Therefore, certain acts that may be tolerable in the general public realm may not be tolerable in situations involving these assemblies or functions.

The Court then segued into the first point made by the appellant, that the statute is overbroad and should be constitutionally void. Although s. 871.01, F.S., is widely protective, the Court stated,

² Section 877.03, F.S. -- Breach of the peace; disorderly conduct.—Whoever commits such acts as are of a nature to corrupt the public morals, or outrage the sense of public decency, or affect the peace and quiet of persons who may witness them, or engages in brawling or fighting, or engages in such conduct as to constitute a breach of the peace or disorderly conduct, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083. Upheld in White v. State of Florida, 330 So.2d 3 (Fla. 1976).

“Because of the innumerable situations and types of conduct involved, the question of what conduct [constitutes an interruption or disturbance] must be determined largely on a case-by-case basis³.”

The Court further held that, “Since it is impossible to predict the type of behavior a person might use to cause a disruption, the statute cannot be more specific.” The Court decided that a jury should make an initial determination, based on the facts of a case, whether or not s. 871.01, F.S., was violated, and it affirmed that the statute was not overbroad.

Regarding the First Amendment issue raised by the appellant, the Court said, “As the appellant notes, mere words, when used as a tool of communication, are constitutionally protected. But the protection fails when, by the manner of their use, the words invade the right of others to pursue their lawful activities.” The Court noted the appellant’s conduct consisted of loud obscenities, running through the junior high while school was in session, and disobedience of lawful and reasonable requests of school officials for the conduct to stop. The Court concluded that the First Amendment did not protect the appellant’s activities and that he did in fact violate s. 871.01, F.S.

The Court upheld s. 871.01, F.S., against the argument that the statute is analogous to the “breach of peace” statute, and against the constitutional challenges that the statute is overbroad and violates the First Amendment.

Regarding certain functions that may currently fall under the protection of s. 871.01, F.S., funerals appear to fall under the provisions of this statute, and two considerations need to be addressed. First, since s. 871.01, F.S., protects “any assembly of people met...for any lawful purpose,” it appears funerals fit this description. Second, in its decision in S.H.B. v. Florida, the Court noted the “fragile...nature” of such assemblages, and again, funerals appear to suit this consideration.

Military Funeral Honors for Any Veteran

The United States created a program that provides special recognition for veterans upon their death. The “Honoring Those Who Served” Program directs the Secretary of Defense to provide special Military Funeral Honors⁴ for any⁵ deceased veteran⁶ upon his or her family’s request. The codification of special funeral honors for deceased veterans by the United States Government recognizes both the special nature of their service and sacrifices while defending the country and the opportunity for such recognition at the time of their death.

The minimum requirements⁷ for Military Funeral Honors under the law are:

- A funeral honors detail with at least two persons from the armed forces in proper uniform, with at least one of those persons from the deceased veteran’s armed force⁸; and
- A ceremony that includes the playing of Taps by a bugler or recorded version followed by the folding and presentation of a United States flag to the decedent’s family.

The Department of Defense (DOD) has additional honors, such as, but not limited to, a firing party, which may augment the minimum requirements.

³ Next, the Court said that, generally, the case-by-case determination on whether or not a disturbance occurred would be made at the trial level.

⁴ Title 10 U.S.C. s. 1491(a).

⁵ Title 10 U.S.C. s. 985(a) provides certain exceptions to “any” veteran such as, but not limited to, a veteran convicted of a federal or state capital crime.

⁶ Title 10 U.S.C. s. 1491(h) defines veteran under this section as “a decedent who – (1) served in the active military, naval, or air service (as defined in section 101(24) of title 38) and who was discharged or released therefrom under conditions other than dishonorable; or (2) was a member or former member of the Selected Reserve described in section 2301(f) of title 38.”

⁷ Title 10 U.S.C. s. 1491(b) and (c).

⁸ The other members of the funeral detail may be retired military persons or members of veterans organizations.

An eligible deceased veteran's family may request a funeral with military honors by contacting their funeral director or a local veterans organization. In addition, DOD maintains a website (www.militaryfuneralhonors.osd.mil) to assist the public with Military Funeral Honors.

Over the last few years, according to numerous news accounts, protestors have been targeting certain high-profile funerals with pickets and sloganeering. More recently, these protestors have been organizing their protests at funerals honoring the nation's fallen veterans. This has prompted many states, such as Oklahoma, Missouri, Indiana, Nebraska, South Dakota, Illinois, Kansas, Iowa, Mississippi, Virginia, Wisconsin, Tennessee, Kentucky, and West Virginia, to name a few, to enact or propose legislation to address protests at funerals.

Effect of Proposed Changes:

House Bill 7127 amends Florida's current prohibition against disturbing lawful assemblies by providing a higher level of penalty for disturbing the particularly sensitive assembly of individuals gathered to give military honors to a fallen veteran. This bill amends s. 871.01, F.S., by distinguishing funerals with military honors, as provided for in 10 U.S.C. s. 1491, in subsection (2) and by making it a first degree misdemeanor to willfully interrupt or disturb such a funeral.

A funeral conducted under Military Funeral Honors is provided for in 10 U.S.C. s. 1491. Due to the extraordinarily special nature of a deceased veteran's funeral, the federal government deemed it necessary to codify such honors for any⁹ veteran in recognition of his or her defense of the nation. The provisions of this bill recognize that since such a funeral receives special recognition from the U.S. Government, it is more egregious to willfully interrupt or disturb such a funeral, and a higher penalty is warranted to deter such activity.

This bill also reenacts s. 871.02, F.S., which provides the mechanisms for prosecuting violators of s. 871.01, F.S.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

- Section 1. Amends s. 871.01, F.S., by distinguishing funerals with military honors, as provided for in 10 U.S.C. s. 1491, in subsection (2) and by making it a first degree misdemeanor to willfully interrupt or disturb such a funeral.
- Section 2. Reenacts s. 871.02, F.S., to extend the prosecutorial mechanisms of this section to the amended version of s. 871.01, F.S., through the continuance of a reference.
- Section 3. Provides that this act shall take effect upon becoming law.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

The bill does not require counties or municipalities to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds. This bill does not reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or municipalities. This bill does not reduce the authority that municipalities have to raise revenues.

2. Other:

Section 871.01, F.S., which this PCB amends, is constitutional according to the Florida Supreme Court's decision in S.H.B. v. Florida¹⁰. This bill does not appear to take the statute outside the constitutional parameters laid forth in the Court's decision.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The bill clarifies the custodial requirements for a custodian of public records. It clarifies that the custodian of public records deemed confidential and exempt from public records requirements cannot release such records, except as provided in statute or by court order. The bill further clarifies that an agency or other governmental entity authorized to receive a confidential and exempt record is required to maintain the confidential and exempt status of that record. These clarifications are the standard contained in case law. The bill makes it clear that the same standards apply to each record deemed confidential and exempt by expressly stating the standards in the Public Records Act.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

This bill does not appear to implicate any of the House Principles.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Public Records Law

Article I, s. 24(a), Florida Constitution, sets forth the state's public policy regarding access to government records. The section guarantees every person a right to inspect or copy any public record of the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government. The Legislature, however, may provide by general law for the exemption of records from the requirements of Article I, s. 24(a), Florida Constitution. The general law must state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption (public necessity statement) and must be no broader than necessary to accomplish its purpose.

Public policy regarding access to government records is addressed further in the Florida Statutes. Section 119.07(1), F.S., also guarantees every person a right to inspect and copy any state, county, or municipal record.

Confidential and Exempt Records

There is a difference between records that the Legislature designates as exempt from public disclosure and those the Legislature deems confidential and exempt. Records classified exempt from public disclosure are permitted to be disclosed under certain circumstances.¹ If the Legislature designates certain records confidential and exempt from public disclosure, such records may not be released by the custodian of public records to anyone other than the persons or entities specifically designated in the statutory exemption.²

Definition of "Agency"

It should be noted that the definition of "agency" provided in the Public Records Act includes the phrase ". . . and any other public or private agency, person, partnership, corporation, or business entity acting on behalf of any public agency."³ [Emphasis added.] Agencies often are authorized, and in some instances are required, to "outsource" certain functions. Under the current case law standard, an agency is not required to have explicit statutory authority to release public records in its control to its agents. Its agents, however, are required to comply with the same public records custodial requirements with which the agency must comply.

Confidentiality Travels

In Ragsdale v. State,⁴ the Supreme Court held that

[T]he applicability of a particular exemption is determined by the document being withheld, not by the identity of the agency possessing the record . . . the focus in determining whether a document has lost its status as a public record must be on the policy behind the exemption and not on the simple fact that the information has changed agency hands.⁵

In City of Riviera Beach v. Barfield,⁶ the court stated, “[h]ad the legislature intended the exemption for active criminal investigative information to evaporate upon the sharing of that information with another criminal justice agency, it would have expressly provided so in the statute.”⁷

The bill clarifies the custodial requirements for a custodian of public records. It clarifies that the custodian of public records deemed confidential and exempt from public records requirements, as opposed to records only made exempt, cannot release such records except as provided in statute or by court order. This clarification is the standard contained in case law.

The bill further clarifies that an agency or other governmental entity authorized to receive a confidential and exempt record is required to maintain the confidential and exempt status of that record. This clarification also is the standard contained in case law; however, some confusion exists because some statutes explicitly state that the receiving agency or other governmental entity must maintain the confidential and exempt status of the record received while other statutes do not. The bill makes it clear that the same standard applies to each record that is confidential and exempt by expressly stating this standard in the Public Records Act.

The bill reiterates that the provisions do not limit access to any record by an agency or entity acting on behalf of a custodian of public records; the Legislature; or pursuant to court order.

Finally, the bill creates subheadings for s. 119.021, F.S.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 119.021, F.S., to clarify agency custodial requirements for records deemed confidential and exempt.

Section 2 provides an effective date of July 1, 2006.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

This bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

This bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state expenditure.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

This bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local revenue source.

⁶ 642 So. 2d 1135 (Fla. 4th DCA 1994), review denied, 651 So. 2d 1192 (Fla. 1995). In Barfield, Barfield argued that once the City of West Palm Beach shared its active criminal investigative information with the City of Riviera Beach the public records exemption for such information was waived. Barfield based that argument on a statement from the 1993 Government-In-The-Sunshine Manual (a booklet prepared by the Office of the Attorney General). The Attorney General opined “once a record is transferred from one public agency to another, the record loses its exempt status.” The court declined to accept the Attorney General’s view. As a result, that statement has been removed from the Government-In-The-Sunshine Manual.

2 An act relating to custodial requirements for public
3 records; amending s. 119.021, F.S.; organizing provisions
4 relating to the maintenance, preservation, and retention
5 of public records and the custodial requirements for 6 confidential and exempt records; providing requirements
7 with respect to the authority of a custodian of a public
8 record to release the record; providing requirements with 9 respect to retention of confidential and exempt records by 10 an agency or other governmental entity; authorizing a 11 custodian of confidential and exempt records to require an 12 agency or other governmental entity authorized to receive 13 such record to acknowledge in writing the confidential and 14 exempt status of such record; specifying that the act does
15 not limit access to any record by an agency or entity
16 acting on behalf of a custodian of public records, the 17 Legislature, or pursuant to court order; providing an 18 effective date.

19
20 Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

21
22 Section 1. Section 119.021, Florida Statutes, is amended
23 to read:

24 119.021 Custodial requirements; maintenance, preservation,
25 and retention of public records.--

26 (1) MAINTENANCE AND PRESERVATION.--Public records shall be
27 maintained and preserved as follows:

HB 7243

2006

(a) All public records should be kept in the buildings in which they are ordinarily used.

(b) Insofar as practicable, a custodian of public records of vital, permanent, or archival records shall keep them in fireproof and waterproof safes, vaults, or rooms fitted with noncombustible materials and in such arrangement as to be easily accessible for convenient use.

(c)1. Record books should be copied or repaired, renovated, or rebound if worn, mutilated, damaged, or difficult to read.

2. Whenever any state, county, or municipal records are in need of repair, restoration, or rebinding, the head of the concerned state agency, department, board, or commission; the board of county commissioners of such county; or the governing body of such municipality may authorize that such records be removed from the building or office in which such records are ordinarily kept for the length of time required to repair, restore, or rebind them.

3. Any public official who causes a record book to be copied shall attest and certify under oath that the copy is an accurate copy of the original book. The copy shall then have the force and effect of the original.

(2) RETENTION SCHEDULES.--

(a) The Division of Library and Information Services of the Department of State shall adopt rules to establish retention schedules and a disposal process for public records.

(b) Each agency shall comply with the rules establishing retention schedules and disposal processes for public records which are adopted by the records and information management program of the division.

HB 7243

(c) Each public official shall systematically dispose of records no longer needed, subject to the consent of the records and information management program of the division in accordance with s. 257.36.

(d) The division may ascertain the condition of public records and shall give advice and assistance to public officials to solve problems related to the preservation, creation, filing, and public accessibility of public records in their custody. Public officials shall assist the division by preparing an inclusive inventory of categories of public records in their custody. The division shall establish a time period for the retention or disposal of each series of records. Upon the completion of the inventory and schedule, the division shall, subject to the availability of necessary space, staff, and other facilities for such purposes, make space available in its records center for the filing of semicurrent records so scheduled and in its archives for noncurrent records of permanent value, and shall render such other assistance as needed, including the microfilming of records so scheduled.

(3) INDEX OF AGENCY ORDERS.--Agency orders that comprise final agency action and that must be indexed or listed pursuant to s. 120.53 have continuing legal significance; therefore, notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter or any provision of chapter 257, each agency shall permanently maintain records of such orders pursuant to the applicable rules of the Department of State.

84 (4) ~~(a)~~ TRANSFER OF CUSTODY.--Whoever has custody of any 85 public records shall deliver, at the expiration of his or her 86 term of office, to his or her successor or, if there be none, to 87 the records and information management program of the Division
88 of Library and Information Services of the Department of State,
89 all public records kept or received by him or her in the 90 transaction of official business.

91 (5) ~~(b)~~ UNLAWFUL POSSESSION.--Whoever is entitled to 92 custody of public records shall demand them from any person
93 having illegal possession of them, who must forthwith deliver
94 the same to him or her. Any person unlawfully possessing public
95 records must within 10 days deliver such records to the lawful
96 custodian of public records unless just cause exists for failing
97 to deliver such records.

98 (6) CUSTODIAL REQUIREMENTS FOR CONFIDENTIAL AND EXEMPT
99 RECORDS.--

100 (a) A custodian of public records who holds a record that 101 is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art.
102 I of the State Constitution may not release such record except 103 as provided in statute or pursuant to court order.

104 (b) An agency or other governmental entity that is 105 authorized to receive a confidential and exempt record pursuant 106 to statute shall retain the confidential and exempt status of 107 such record, except as otherwise provided by law.

108 (c) A custodian of public records is authorized to require 109 the agency or other governmental entity that is authorized to 110 receive a confidential and exempt record pursuant to statute to 111 acknowledge in a written release that:

HB 7243

2006

- 112 1. Such record is confidential and exempt; and 113 2. The receiving agency or other governmental entity is 114 required by law to retain the confidential and exempt status of 115 such record.
 116 (d) This subsection does not limit access to any record
 117 by:
 118 1. An agency or entity acting on behalf of a custodian of 119 public records;
 120 2. The Legislature; or
 121 3. Pursuant to court order.
 122 Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 2006.
